مشهد الأفوكاتو

Court is now in session.	فتحت الجلسة.
You may proceed.[1]	اتفضل، يا أستاذ.
Your case is number 35. Yours is case number 35.	قضيتك نمرة خمسة وتلاتين.
We have 175 cases in the roll. There are 175 cases in the roll.	وعندنا مية خمسة وسبعين قضية في الرول.
In the Name of Allah, the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful. Your honour and honourable judges[3], [2]	بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم، سيدي الرئيس، حضرات المستشارين.
The case in hand/question is open-and-shut.	إن القضية التي أمامنا قضية بسيطة جدًا وواضحة تماما.
The defendant was caught dealing in hard currency.	فالمتهم ضُبِطْ، وهو يتاجر بالعملة الصعبة.
The evidence is damning and prison is inevitably his fate. The evidence is solid that his fate in jail is certain/sealed.	والأدلة ثابتة والسجن مصيره لا محالة.
Damn it, sir! God damn you, mister/sir!	الله يخرب بيتك، يا أستاذ.
Yet, (Would the court) allow me to clarify some points that might be unclear to the public,	ولكن، ولتسمح عدالة المحكمة أن أبين بعض النقاط قد تكون خافية على العامة،
But surely not to your excellencies. But surely not to your honour[4].	ولكنها بالطبع لا تخفى عن سياداتكم.

[1] "أستاذ" in Arabic is merely used to direct the judge's speech at Hassan, not out of respect or anything. Again, a judge is not expected to respect a lawyer.
[2] The holy Names of God must be capitalized. This includes capitalizing "most" as in "the Most Gracious" and capitalizing "all" in the "the All Powerful," among others.
[3] They are co-judges. They are not consultants. The are not advisors. They are judges as well. Also, they are not "members of the jury." We do not have jury in Egypt. Simply, they are also judges.
[4] In this example, we used Singular-Plural modulation.

Is it just[5]/not hypocritical to punish/prosecute[6] a person for a crime we all commit?	هل من العدالة أن نعاقب متهم على جريمة نحن نرتكبها جميعا؟
I am not talking about the government.	أنا لن أتكلم عن الحكومة.
Listen here! Hey!	بقول لك أية.
Tread lightly! You are walking/skating/treading on thin ice. Shut it if you want to see another day. Think twice before you speak. Watch your mouth.	اصطبح وقول يا صبح.
Your honour, I said I was not speaking about the government.	سيدي الرئيس أنا بقول لن أتكلم عن الحكومة.
I see. Right! Fine!	آه.
our government...	فالحكومة عندنا...
Hassan!	يا حسن.
Your honour, please, let me continue my case. Your honour, please, let me continue my defense. Your honour, please, let me continue making my case.	سيادة الرئيس، أرجو من عدالتكم أن تسمح لي إني أكمل مرافعتي.
Proceed!	اتفضل.
Proceed, Hassan!	اتفضل، يا سي حسن.

[5] Fairness has nothing to do with a court. Here, It is either just or justice.

[6] Using "prosecute" depends on metonymy, since "punishment" is the result of "prosecuting." and we replaced the effect with the reason. Similar to this in Arabic is "المجاز المرسل" as in "وَفِي السَّمَاءِ رِزْقُكُمْ وَمَا تُوعَدُونَ" or in " فَبَدَّلَ الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا قَوْلًا غَيْرَ الَّذِي قِيلَ لَهُمْ فَأَنزَلْنَا عَلَى الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا رِجْزًا مِّنَ السَّمَاءِ بِمَا كَانُوا يَفْسُقُونَ." Here, God uses the cause to indicate the effect, as "رجز" or "rains" is used to mean punishment.

Our government deals in the black market.	فالحكومة عندنا تتاجر في السوق السوداء للعملة.
Oh, Hassan!	يا حسن.
Your honour, I have evidence.	سيادة الرئيس، أنا معايا أدلة.
I beg your pardon...	أنا آسف لعدالة المحكمة.
I want to say that the evidence is...	أنا عايز أقول إن الأدلة...
Here, sir.	أهو، يا فندم.
Here it is, your honour.	أهو، سيادة الرئيس.
There is resolution (no.) 84 of 1977[7] by the Central Bank.	فيه عندي قرار من البنك المركزي رقم ٨٤ لعام ١٩٧٧.
There is also...	فيه كمان، يا فندم...
Hand/Give him this. (It) might come in handy.	خد اديله البتاعة دي، يمكن تنفعه.
I have another resolution, your honour.	عندي قرار، يا سيادة الرئيس،
Another resolution.	فيه قرار آخر،
Resolution 18,484/1979 by the Authority for Investment.	قرار من هيئة الاستثمار رقم ١٨،٤٨٤ لعام ٧٩.
There is also another resolution, your honour, that I'd like to present.	فيه كمان عندي قرار، يا سيادة الرئيس، أنا أحب أوضحه لسيادتك.
A very important one.	فيه قرار هام جدًّا.
Yeah, here it is.	أيوة، هو ده.
A resolution by the minister of economy.	قرار وزير الاقتصاد.
Get to the point, Hassan. Cut to the chase, Hassan. Cut the crap! Hassan.	خلصنا، يا حسن.

[7] Indicating number and year of publication in the following structure "resolution + number + (Year)" is only used in UN documents. In normal writing, we follow either of the next formulas "resolution number + '/' +year" or "resolution number + of + year." which is both translated into "...قرار ... لسنة".

What/All I mean/want to say, your honour, is that we have a wise government.	اللي أنا عايز أقوله، يا سيادة الرئيس، إن الحكومة بتاعتنا حكومة رشيدة.
Very wise indeed. A very wise one.	حكومة رشيدة حقًا.
It collects hard currency[8] from the black market for the sake/benefit/interest of this country.	بتجمع الفلوس والعملة الصعبة من السوق السوداء من أجل مصلحة هذا البلد.
And who could be against that?	ومن منا ضد مصلحة هذا البلد؟
Huh?	هاه؟
Nobody, No-one,	لا أحد.
Including the defendant.	بما فيهم هذا المتهم.
But also...	ولكن أيضا،
Who does not deal in hard currency?	من منا لا يتعامل بالعملة الصعبة؟
What I mean/want to say, you honour, is: Who in this room does not deal in dollars?	إني أريد اقول، يا سيادة الرئيس، من في هذه القاعة لا يتعامل بالدولار؟
What I want to say, your honour, is there anyone in this court who doesn't deal in dollars?	إني أريد اقول، يا سيادة الرئيس، من في هذه القاعة لا يتعامل بالدولار؟
This case, your excellency, needs conscience more than law,	القضية، أيها السادة، تحتاج إلى ضمير أكثر من حاجتها الى قانون.
It needs the spirit of the law more than the letter of the law.	تحتاج إلى روح العدالة، أكثر من حاجتها لتفسيرات محكمة النقض.
Do you have a 16-foot refrigerator?	سيادتك عندك تلاجة ستاشر قدم؟
Yes.	أيوة.
Where'd you get the dollars?	جبت الدولارات بتاعتها منين؟

[8] Since "hard currency" means "money," there is no need for repetition. Thus, we do not say "money and hard currency." We only use one of them.

El-Zamalek Exchange office.[9]	من الزمالك.
And you?	وحضرتك؟
Al-'Agouzah	من العجوزة.
And you, sir?	وسيادتك؟
I wrote a book in Kuwait, and got paid there.	ألفت كتاب في الكويت ودفعوا لي ثمنه هناك.
Dodging/Evading taxes!	وهربت من الضرايب.
And, thus, the question, ladies and gentlemen: If the master of the house runs a casino, Why should not the household play poker? The defendant was merely playing, And there is no law against playing. Is their any law, honourable judges? (14)	وهكذا يأتي السؤال، أيها السادة: إذا كان رب الدار بالدف ضارب، فلماذا لا يرقص اهل البيت؟ [١٠] موكلي كان يرقص. وليس هناك قانون، أيها السادة، يمنع الرقص. هل هناك قانون، يا حضرات المستشارين، يمنع الرقص؟ [١١]
That's the question ladies and gentlemen If the master sings, why won't the servants hum? My defendant was humming, and there's no law that forbids humming. Is there a law that forbids humming, your honours?	وهكذا يأتي السؤال، أيها السادة: إذا كان رب الدار بالدف ضارب، فلماذا لا يرقص اهل البيت؟ موكلي كان يرقص. وليس هناك قانون، أيها السادة، يمنع الرقص. هل هناك قانون، يا حضرات المستشارين، يمنع الرقص؟

[9] This one is very tricky. The ST has not mentioned that they bought dollars from an exchange office; yet, it is (supposedly) crystal clear to the Arabic viewer that he got the dollars from one. That's why, when Hassan moved to the third judge, his tongue slipped, confessing that he did not pay taxes for them. Since the only significance of the places names is to indicate that they got the dollars from illegal sources, one can omit these names and use something like "An exchange office." Thus, a translator must think of the significance of each word while translating because if we just transliterated names, it would be very ambiguous to the TL audience who would not be able to get that shade of meaning conveyed by these names, which brings us to the notion of the "implied reader."

[10] This is a key-phrase modified allusion to a verse written by "سبط ابن التعاويذي" which reads:

وَقالوا اِستَبانَت يا اِبنَ عُروَةَ إِبنَتُك  فَقُلتُ لَهُم ما ذاكَ في حَقِّهِ نَقصُ
إِذا كانَ رَبُّ البَيتِ بِالدُفِّ مولِعاً  فَشيمَةُ أَهلِ البَيتِ كُلِّهِم الرَقصُ

[11] Here, the main essence of the argument is to make the act of dealing in hard currency seems ridiculous or silly which should be conveyed when translating it into English. He is making a "you too" fallacy, pressing on the audience's fear – either you pardon him or the punishment extends to all.

(20)
And hence the question, ladies and gentlemen: If the King plays music, Shouldn't his subjects dance? My client was but a dancer. And there's no law against dancing. Is there any, honourable judges, Against dancing? (329)	وهكذا يأتي السؤال، أيها السادة: إذا كان رب الدار بالدف ضارب، فلماذا لا يرقص اهل البيت؟ موكلي كان يرقص. وليس هناك قانون، أيها السادة، يمنع الرقص. هل هناك قانون، يا حضرات المستشارين، يمنع الرقص؟
You are rude/impudent.	انت قليل الأدب.
I evade/dodge taxes, Hassan?	أنا بهرب من الضرايب، يا حسن؟
You want to get me in trouble?	أنت عاوز توديني في داهية؟
The court finds the defendant not guilty,	حكمت المحكمة ببراءة المتهم،
And sentences the attorney to one month in prison.	وحبس المحامي لمدة شهر.

مشهد ضد الحكومة

Mr. Moustafa, go ahead[12] / you may proceed.	أستاذ مصطفى، اتفضل.
I would[13] like to thank my professor/mentor[14] and colleague Dr. Abd al-Nour	أشكر أستاذي وزميلي الدكتور عبد النور
who gave me this chance	الذي أتاح لي هذه الفرصة
To publicly confess all my sins before you.	لأعلن كل خطاياي، أمامكم وعلى الملأ
May I be cleansed of them. / hoping for redemption.	لعلي أتطهر منها
Yes, I am an example/the epitome of a corrupt lawyer,	نعم، أنا مثال للمحامي الفاسد.
Even more corrupt than what my professor would think.	بل أكثر فسادًا مما يتصوره أستاذي،
I am a child of this era I am the product of this era	أنا ابن لهذه المرحلة
And the eras/ before it.	والمراحل التي سبقتها
My awareness blossomed/bloomed/ developed with nationalistic Nasserism[15].	تفتح وعيي مع التجربة الناصرية
I defended it and believed in it. I believed in it and stood by it. I believed in it. I stood by/advocated for it.	آمنت بها ودافعت عنها
I rejoiced at its triumphs, I rejoiced at the wins	فرحت بانتصاراتها
I swallowed/endured the bitterness of loss and defeat.	وتجرعت مرارة هزائمها وانكساراتها

[12] In this context, "go ahead" would fit more than "please" since no respect is anticipated from a judge towards a lawyer.

[13] Even though it is subtitling, we should use full forms of modal verbs to convey the formality that the situation forces. Therefore, "I'd" must be "I would." One should also pay attention that, this is to be inferred from the para-linguistic features of the Arabic text since different levels of formality can be shown within the same language level.

[14] "Mentor" is the safest option since we do not know whether the person he mentioned was a real professor or just someone whom the speaker got influenced by.

[15] "التجربة الناصرية" is a proper name modified allusion that refers to President Gamal Abd El-Nasser. When translating such allusion, one should get a grasp on all accompanying meanings that comes with this allusion. For example, when one thinks of Nasserism, what comes to mind is its ideologies not the period itself. Therefore, by Nasserism he means "socialism," "nationalism," and "pan-Arabism." Thus, when one translates this, he should at least convey part of that meaning since the English audience do not even know what is Nasserism.

I was crushed by loss and defeat.
I fell apart[16]/collapsed/crumbled when everything else did. I was trivialized just like others.	هنت، عندما هان كل شيء.
I fell, like everyone else, into an abyss/a bottomless pit/a black hole of apathy/indifference, impotence, and helplessness.	وسقطت، كما سقط الجميع في بئر سحيق من اللامبالاة والإحساس بالعجز وقلة الحيلة.
I mastered the law of the 70s[17], I knew the turmoil of the 70s,	أدركت قانون السبعينات
and manipulated it rather excellently/and excelled at it.	ولعبت عليه وتفوقت،
Everything was for sale: I capitalised on everything:	تاجرت في كل شيء
Law, ethics/morals and honour.	في القانون والأخلاق والشرف
I deny nothing;	أنا لا أنكر شيئا
and I am ready to be held accountable/to stand trial/to take responsibility.	ومستعد للحساب وتحمل المسئولية
Even more,	بل أكثر من ذلك
I admit that I took up this case	أعترف أمامكم بأنني دخلت هذه القضية
for a huge compensation.	طامعا في مبلغ تعويض ضخم
But…	لكن،
but I encountered/came across/met a special case,	لكني اصطدمت بحالة خاصة
so special	شديدة الخصوصية
that it made me reconsider things/re-evaluate myself,	جعلتني أراجع نفسي
my whole situation,	أراجع موقفي كله
and all our lives, mine included.	أراجع حياتي وحياتنا
I came face-to-face with the future.	اصطدمت بالمستقبل،

[16] This is an example of the unintentional allusion, as it refers to a famous novel called When Things Fall Apart by Pema Chödrön who was a contemporary of Abd El-Nasser.

[17] Starting from this point, the speaker shifts to another era, i.e. the era of Al-Sadat whose period was marked with capitalism that made the Egyptian society absorbed in the pursuit for money (a race-rat) which shows why the speaker is going to be materialistic in the following lines.

Yes, a boy.	نعم،
One of the doomed passengers on the bus of death,	صبي من الذين حكم عليهم أن يكونوا ضمن ركاب أتوبيس الموت
I saw in him the future	رأيت فيه المستقبل
that offers us a real lifeline. that brings a genuine ray of hope. A light at the end of the tunnel	الذي يحمل لنا طوق نجاة حقيقي
I saw us crushing him,	رأيتنا نسحقه
without blinking/batting an eye(lid),	دون أن يهتز لنا جفن،
killing him, thinking this is how things should go. killing him, thinking this is how things are meant to be. killing him, thinking "it is what it is."	نقتله ونحن متصورون أن هذه هي طبائع الأمور.
Thus, I had to take a stand and cry,	فكان لابد لي أن أقف وأصرخ
"This is a crime,"	إن هذه جريمة
a major/grave crime	جريمة كبرى
whose culprits/perpetrators must be prosecuted.	لابد أن يحاسب من تسبب فيها
I only ask to prosecute/I ask for nothing more than punishing the real culprits behind the death 20 of students	إني لا أطلب سوى محاسبة المسؤولين الحقيقيين عن قتل عشرين تلميذا who did nothing wrong except for being our children, whose only crime is being our children,	لم يجنوا شيئا سوى أنهم أبناؤنا،
children of impotence, negligence, and deterioration.	أبناء العجز والإهمال والتردي.
We are all corrupt.	كلنا فاسدون
We are all corrupt.	كلنا فاسدون
(I make) no exceptions. / Every single one of us.	لا أستثني أحدا
Even with our helpless, consenting/approving silence.	حتى بالصمت العاجز الموافق قليل الحيلة
Your honour,	سيدي الرئيس،
all I ask for is that we all join in a prayer to the one and only God,	كل ما أطالب به أن نصلي جميعا صلاة واحدة لإله واحد

God of Justice,	إله العدل
The One, the Supreme, and the Irresistible.	الواحد الأحد القهار

Please/go on/proceed	تَفَضّل	rejoice (at)	فرح بـ
in public/before the whole world	على المَلأ	triumph/victory/win	ظفر/نصر
to be held accountable	يتعرض للمسائلة	helplessness	قلة الحيلة
Financial compensation	تعويض مالي	impotence	العجز
to give hope/throw a lifeline/be the light at the end of the tunnel		يلقي طوق/حبل النجاة

General Notes:

- In subtitling, we never end a line with a main verb. In addition, we never end lines with a relative pronoun.
- In parallel structure, a transitive verb cannot be combined with an intransitive verb.
- Each new segment should start with a capital letter even if it is not a new sentence.
- The God of Abrahamic religions is written with a capital letter Similarly, any pronoun that refer to him must be written with a capital letter, such as He, Him, and His." wherever they occur in a sentence. However, that of polytheistic religions is always written with a small letter "god."
- This is a very good website for looking up words in Quran: "https://tanzil.net/"
- This is another very good website that provides several translations for the same verse in Quran, in addition to a the meanings of it: "https://corpus.quran.com/"
- No theoretical Questions for Dr. Ahmed.
- Punctuation marks are written either in Arabic or in English with no spaces before them. We only write a space after it. Ex: "Xxxxxx, ooooooooo."
- Difference between eon, period, epoch, age, and era.
- The difference between "Just like" and "just as?"

  The rule is that you use "like" if what follows is not a complete subordinate clause. Use "as" if what follows is a complete subordinate clause. There are, however, many English speakers who use "like" in places where it should not be used. For example, I want to be just like Mike. This is grammatically incorrect, because the complete thought is "I want to be just like Mike is." Since "Mike is" constitutes a subordinate clause (subject and verb), the correct word choice is "as," but no-one, or hardly anyone, would say "I want to be just as Mike is."

  More examples:

  Ex: Just as we all agreed to leave, Mary remembered she had homework due tomorrow.

  Ex: Just as you said yesterday, snow will fall today.

  Ex: Just like lightning, the TGF passed through the countryside.

Ex: Gilles Marini danced just like poetry in motion.

Notes:

- The incongruency between Adel Imam's language and the nature of the situation is what creates the sense of humor in the whole scene. He speaks and sounds like a lawyer, but he mocks the whole court. In addition, he maintains speaking in the MSA while dragging the judges down to speak colloquially. His argument also is based on several logical fallacies, including "You too fallacy," and "Appeal to popularity."
- The role of the judge in some countries like the USA is just to moderate a trial; he does not even deliver the verdict. The judge presides over the trial from a desk, called a bench, on an elevated platform. The judge has five basic tasks. The first is simply to preside over the proceedings and see that order is maintained. The second is to determine whether any of the evidence that the parties want to use is illegal or improper. Third, before the jury begins its deliberations about the facts in the case, the judge gives the jury instructions about the law that applies to the case and the standards it must use in deciding the case. Fourth, in bench trials, the judge must also determine the facts and decide the case. The fifth is to sentence convicted criminal defendants. This is according to the United States Verdict Court.

- It is always “deal in” not “deal with,” and in this passage “deal in” is a better option than “trade in.”
- Trade in + things
- Trade with + entities (people, organizations, etc.)
- In a court, it is always the defendant not the accused; we use the latter in the prosecution office not in a court.
- For God’s sake, “your justice” is very literal.
- In subtitling, numbers are always written in digits not in letters. However, with regards to normal translation, each organization has its own guidelines which tell whether to write numbers in digits or in letters or even both. Yet, the norm in English Journalism is to write any number below 10 in letters and numbers above 10 in digits.
- Foreignization is not preferable in subtitling; domestication is the translator’s must-go-to option in this case since the viewer is not expected to look up the meaning of every word or phrase.
- Many researchers equate between intertextuality and allusions. Many say that intertextuality is the umbrella term that includes allusions under it. However, there are also many who say that both are synonymous. In cases of parodies, the whole can be considered an allusion, and each of its elements can be considered allusions also.

Twenty-nine.	تسعة وعشرين.
What?	أية؟
And a half.	ونص.
How old are you, woman?	سنك كام يا ست؟
Ohhh.	أووووه.

ughh. Uh... While this is not a big deal, vocalizations do carry meaning sometimes, For instance, “ujgh” implies boredom or disgust, ohhh implies realizing something. The one that implies reluctance or inability to speak is uhh.
I can't.	مش قادرة.
I can't say it. Never.	مش قادرة أقول أبدًا.

مشهد المال والبنون

You wanna drive me crazy! To turn your back on this blessing To kick away such a blessing!	أنت هتجنني يا أخي، ترفص النعمة برجليك! Metaphor: blessings likened to sth that can be kicked
It is ill-gotten money, Salamah, Frawila.	المال ده حرام، يا سلامة، يا فراويلة.
Ughh, why so?	أووووه، أيه حرّمه بس!
It is everyone's money, Salama.	دة مال الناس كلها، يا جدع!
I wanna raise my children with honest money, Salama.	أنا عايز أربّي ولادي من مال حلال، يا سلامة.
Well, God just gave you their provision so you can raise them.	طب ما هو ربنا باعتلك رزقهم؛ عشان تربيهم أهوه!
Alright, go on then.	طب انزل.
Go tell the people, the government too, That it is divine provision, can you?	انزل قول للناس كلها وللحكومة، إن دة رزق وجالك، تقدر يا سلامة؟
The government will snatch it, while we have more right to it.	الحكومة هتاخده يا عباس، وأحنا أولى بيه.
Acting all scared and sneaky makes it a theft, Salama.	مدام خايف، وبتداري، تبقى سرقة، يا سلامة.
Listen to me, God won't bless this money.	اسمع كلامي، ربنا مش هيبارك.
Abbas, bother, you listen to me.	اسمعني أنت، يا عباس، يا أخويا.
Our provisions have always been in God's hands. We have been always knocking at God's door.	أحنا طول عمرنا على باب الله. An extended metaphor drawn from Quran that blessings/provisions are in a safe and God is the one who send them to us.
We'd eat a meal and skip another To give our kids a proper education	بناكل طقّة ونجوع طقة؛ عشان نعلم عيالنا كويس.
God has given us children,	وربنا إدّانا العيال.

And we've always dreamt of money to properly raise them.	وطول عمرنا بنحلم بالمال؛ عشان نربيهم كويس،
Now, money has come to us from God's most openhanded grace. Now, money comes to us from God's open gates. Money now flows from God's giving hand. Now, money has come from the hand of divine generosity.	وأهو المال جانا من أوسع الأبواب.
I won't reject my dream after God made it come true.	ومش بعد ما ربنا يحقق حلمي أقول لأ.
I won't kick away my children's provision.	أنا مش هطرد رزق ولادي.
Do not let the devil befool you, Salamah.	متخليش الشيطان يضحك عليك، يا سلامة.
What devil, brother!	شيطان أية، يا أخي!
If we don't take it, they'll hand it to some random jeweller!	ما هو أحنا لو مخدنهوش، هينزلوا يرموه لأي حد في الساعة.
It is none of our business.	ملناش دعوة أحنا.
God says: "No one shall bear the burden of another"	"ولا تزرُ وازرةٌ وِزرَ أُخرى".
Listen well, Salama Frawilah.	اسمع كلامي، يا سلامة، يا فراويلة.
Is that all you got from the Quran!	هو ده بس اللي أنت حافظه من القرآن!
Why not recite: " Wealth and children are [but] adornment of the worldly life."	طب ما تقول "المال والبنون زينة الحياة الدنيا".
God blessed us with children, And now wealth to adorn our lives to the fullest.	وأهو ربنا إدانا العيال، ودلوقتي إدانا المال عشان الزينة تكمل.
Recite the verse in full, Slamah!	طب ما تكمل، يا سلامة.

Go on!	كمل!
“Wealth and children are [but] adornment of the worldly life.”	"المال والبنون زينة الحياة الدنيا"
Huh! Go on! Say it!	أية! كمل! قول!
“But the enduring good deeds are better to your Lord for reward and better for [one's] hope.”	"والباقياتُ الصالحاتُ خيرٌ عندَ ربكَ ثوابًا وخيرٌ أملا"
God almighty has spoken the truth.	صدق الله العظيم

مشهد أفواه وأرانب

Oh, the woes you put me through!	من الغلب اللي بشوفه منكم.
A dozen children A (whole) brood of children	مخلفالي قرطة.
Marriage, they say.	قال جواز! قال!
To hell with marriage.	قطع الجواز وسنينه.
What befell couples/spouses/ Married folk except for misery, Married couples only find misery and poverty.	يعني شافوا أيه المتجوزين غير النكد والهم والفقر!
Get married, they say.	قال أتجوز قال؛
So that my clothes get more patches.	عشان بدل ما جلبيتي تبقى برقعة واحدة تبقى برقعتين.
May God forgive you.	الله يسامحك.
But still, a man can shelter you. But still, a man is your shelter.	إنما الراجل برضو سترة.
No, hun/sis.	لا يا أختي.
Not all men.	مش أي راجل.
He must be a provider/breadwinner, educated too.	لازم يبقى كسيب ومتعلم؛
So, my children can grow well,	عشان عيالي يطلعوا عدلين.
Or what's the point then? Otherwise, what use does he have? What use is he? what's he good for?	ولا على أيه لازمته؟
I'm already doing well, perfectly fine And I earn my keep too.	ما انا كده عدلة وكويسة وكسيبة أنا كمان.
Get married, they say! All to have a dozen children.	قال اتجوز قال! عشان أجيبلي اتناشر عيل.
Poor them! I'd bring them into this life/world...	ياعيني عليهم أجيبهم في الدنيا دي عشان...

To add to the poor and illiterate.	ازود الجعانين والفقرانين والجهله.
Where do you pull these big words from? Where do you get these fancy ideas from?	أنت يا أختي بتجيبي كلامك الكبير ده منين؟
From what I've seen, hun.	من اللي أنا شايفاه يا أختي.
Even a rock would turn wise.	اللي أنا شايفاه يعلم الحجر. This is a hyperbole, meaning that what I've been through could teach anyone to speak like I do, even a dumb rock.
Just picture me marrying one of em,... You think if I married one of those, I'd...	وأنت يعني فاكرة لما اتجوز لي واحد من دول.
He'd take my money and spend it on his children.	طيب ما أهو، هياخد القرشين اللي بكسبهم وتروح على عياله.
Don't your children have more right to it?	مش عيالك أولى بيهم؟
Enough of that, hun.	طيب يلا يا أختي،
Just hurry up with the laundry, Work those hands not your lips	شهلي الفم اللي في أيدك ده.
Don't jinx with your chinks of chatter. The assonance in the أ sound in Arabic is mirrored in the "ch" sound, while maintaining the tone.	بدل ما أنتِ قاعدة تنقي وتقري. anagram
Alright, hun, you just stick to the cooking. Hun works fine, but whenever it is heard in American movies, it is never between relatives. The connotations are different. The doctor prefers "sis" or "sister"	طيب يا أختي، خليكي أنت في طبيخك.
Cooking!	طبيخ!

Cooking, she says!	قال طبيخ! قال!
One would think it's not some plain/meatless okra? As though it’s not some plain Okra.	اللي يسمع كده ميعرفش إنهم شوية بامية قرداحي.
Well, if you had had only two kids, You could have served them some meat,	ما هو لو كنتي خلفتيلك عيلين بس كان زمانك بتأكليهم حتة زفر.
Instead of a child a year, breeding like rabbits. Yes! This is exactly the point here. A rabbit does not have a child a year, but it breeds constantly or year round. The other version misses that point	مش كل سنة عيل زي الأرنبة.
Huh? What?	أية؟
What did you just say, N'imah?	بتقولي أية يا نعمة؟
Nothing, hun.	مبقولش حاجة يا أختي.
I said, I'm off to work,	بقول أنا هروح شغلي؛
Otherwise they’ll tell me to pack it up and keep you company at home Otherwise they'd fire me and tell me to stay home with you.	أحسن يرفدوني ويقولولي روحي أقعدي جنب أختك.

مشهد غزل بنات

Hush!	هص!
Silence, girls. Quiet, girls.	بس يا بنت أنت وهي!
Hush!	هص!
You, go on!	كملي أنت.
“Entered the fox, proudly swindling	ودخل الثعلب يحتالُ في كبرياء.
Look again with open eyes!	بصي كويس فتحي عينك.
Entered the fox?	ودخل الثعلب؟
Swa...	يخا...
Swa...	يخا...
Swaggering proudly.	يختالُ في الكبرياءِ.
Yeah, swaggering not swindling.	أهو كدة، يختالُ مش يحتالُ.
To swindle is to deceive.	يحتالُ يعني داخل ينصب،
To swagger is to boast.	إنما يختالُ يعني يزهو فخرًا،
To walk with pride,	يعني يمشي معجبًا،
boastful	يعني منفوخ،
Very proud of himself.	يعني فرحان بروحه أوي.
Do you understand?	أنت فاهمة؟
Yes, sir, to be cocky.	أيوة يا فندي يعني ماشي يتقمع،
Exactly, to be cocky.	مظبوط، ماشي يتقمع،
But we're not farmers tending to a coop,	ولو إن يتقمع دي ألفاظ طباخين،
And a lion is not some cockerel.	ميتقمعش إلا البامية والفاصولية؛
But yes, to be cocky.	لكن ماشي يتقمع.
Wouldn't want the cockatrice to come for you. You'd make good food for the cockatrice. Beware the cockatrice, hope he spirits you lot away.	قمعكم عفريت أزرق.

Thus, the lion had a growing irrigation.	فتملك غيط من الأسد.
What?	أية؟
The lion had growing irrigation.	فتملك الغيطُ من الأسد.
Growing irrigation?	تملكُ الغيط؟
This is what it says, sir.	أيوة يا فندي مكتوبة كدة.
What it says!	مكتوب كدة إزاي؟
Growing irrigation?	تملك الغيط؟
Is there a lion that irrigates?	فيه أسد في الدنيا بيملك غيط؟
Why! What kind of lion is that!	ليه! أسد أية! من الأعيان!
A farmer!	أسد صاحب أطيان!
The lion had growing irritation.	فتملك "الغيظُ" من الأسدِ.
Irritation	الغيظُ
The lion was going to explode...	يعني الأسد كان هيفرقع لما ايه...
Hush! Silence, girls.	بس هص يا بنت، أنتِ وهي.
What do you laugh at?	بتضحكوا على أية؟
At your great failure. At your bleak future.	على خيبتكم السوداء. [Colour Metaphor]
Yes, girls.	أيوة صحيح، يا بنات.
You are so impolite.	أنتم قلالاة الأدب.
What is this!	أية دة!
Please, sir. Come on, sir.	اتفضل يا أستاذ،
Have some rest and sit down.	استريح على الكرسي بتاعك.
Please.	اتفضل.
No, I'm fine this way.	لأ، أنا مبسوط كدة.

Also, I did not ask you to insult them on my behalf.	ثم، أنا مكلفتكيش تشتميهم عن لساني.
You're the impolite one.	أنتِ اللي قليلة الأدب.
Back to your seat!	اقعدي.
But!	لكن!
Sit down!	اقعدي.
Yes, sir.	حاضر
You, go on.	كملي أنتِ.
The lion had growing irritation and so he told him...	فتملك الغيظ من الأسد وقال له...
told him...	و قال له
But, sir?	لكن يا فندي.
Yes. What now?	نعم، أية تاني؟
Can a lion speak?	هو الأسد بيتكلم؟
No, but the Ministry of Education wants it to.	مبيتكلمش، لكن وزارة المعارف عايزاه يتكلم.
A Lion can speak. It can speak. Now sit.	الأسد بيتكلم، بيتكلم، اقعدي.
Ok.	خلاص،
Let it speak.	خليه يتكلم.
You, go on.	كملي أنتِ.
The lion had growing irritation and so he told him "You Miss"	فتملك الغيظ من الأسد وقال له: يا أبلة.
You lass!	أبلة!
The lion told the fox,	الأسد قال للثعلب
You lass!	يا أبلة؟
I swear, this is what it says here. I swear, this is how it is written here.	مكتوب كدة والله.
God shortens your days. guillotine	الله يقصف عمرك.
You ass.	يا أبله!

It means “You donkey”	يعني يا حمار.
“You idiot”	يا مغفل.
Not “You lass!”	مش يا أبلة!
Do animals have	هو عند الحيوانات فيه
A lass and lad?	أبلة وتيتة وأونكل وطنط ؟
Sit down.	اقعدي.
Lass!	أبلة.
You, continue.	كملي أنت.
The lion had growing irritation,	وتملك الغيظ من الأسد،
And so, he told him “You ass”	وقال له: يا أبله!
You’re broomed! broomed! broomed!	ويلوك ويلوك ويلوك.
Silence, or I would chop your heads off.	هص لاحسن اقطع/قاطع فيكم أدبحكم واحدة واحدة.
What broom? huh?	ويلوك أية يا أختي!
Doomed! Doomed!	ويلك، ويلك.
That he is gonna have a black day. [18]	يعني نهارك أسود يا ثعلب،
That his day is to be miserable,	نهارك منيل يا ثعلب.
Like my black, miserable day with you.	زي ما نهاري أسود ومنيل معاكم.
Hush!	هص
Hush!	هص
What is this?	أية دي ؟
The headmaster has sent it to you.	دي حضرة الناظر بعتها لحضرتك.

مشهد الأيدي الناعمة

- Now, what?	وبعدين.
- I don't know.	مش عارفة.
The power's out, too!	الظاهر النور اتقطع كمان.
What a wonderful night!	أهي ليلة باينة من أولها.
We could've just slept at the Princes' Inn / Royals Hotel.	ما كنا نمنا في لوكاندة الأمراء،[19] [The name "لوكاندة الأمراء" is ironic, and it refers to the fact that أحمد مظهر was a prince.
And called it a night.	وأهي ليلة وخلاص!
Princes!	أمراء؟
You've tricked/deceived/cheated me, sir.	أنت غشتني يا أستاذ؛
It was infested/crawling/filled with bugs.	دة أوتيل كله حشرات.
My clothes need to be sanitized. Not common in spoken language: Now, my clothes need disinfection/sanitization.	أنا هدومي عاوزة تعقيم.
Come! follow me!	تعالى، ورايا تعالى.
Watch out for the chairs! Look out for the chairs! Careful where you step! Mind your step!	أوعى تتخبط في الكراسي.

[19] Incongruency: the state or condition of not being in agreement, accordance, or harmony, or the degree to which things are in this state. Incongruence always occurs in series and movies, in which there are two opposing elements depicted at the same time. This is done in order to arouse laughter in the audiences. In this scene, there is incongruency in that while it is called "The Royals Hotel," it is "crawling with bugs."

Mind the chairs!
You've been leading me through alleys, You take me down alleys,	عمال تمشيني في حواري،
Then you say, it's the Princes' Inn / Royals Hotel.	وتقولي لوكاندة الأمراء.
Well, well, well! Woah/Oh my!	الله، الله، الله،
It really is a palace! Such a majestic mansion! It is a palace proper!	دا قصر بصحيح! Code Switch: There is a shift in the way he pronounces the word "قصر" as he pronounces the /q/. This shift has to be rendered in the TT. It can be compensated with alliteration.
And I couldn't believe you. I didn't believe you at first. I thought you were waffling.	وأنا مكنتش مصدقك.
You've got all right to flee the inn. I get why you left the inn. You were right when you left the hotel.	ليك حق تهرب من لوكاندة الأمراء.
But, what got you there? But how did you end up there?	إنما أية اللي كان رماك عليها؟
I've told you; it is those shylocks. [20] [Proper Noun Regular Allusion]	ما قلتلك يا أخي الديانة الخونة.

[20] Shylock is an allusion to a Jewish, merciless moneylender in Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice. It is also used to refer to a hard-hearted moneylender.

I told you, man, it's those money hungry frauds. It's those greedy/backstabbing moneylenders, I tell you. "Loan sharks" is not the best translation since it carries shades of meaning that were not in the original text. Dr. Ahmed didn't like any of the translations, Shylock was last year's.
Ay!	أي!
Listen (up)!	اسمع بقى،
There's a candlestick in my office/study.	فيه شمعدان في المكتب،
Let's go there and light it (up).	نروح هناك ونولعه.
Yeah, nice idea, Sounds good.	أحسن برضه؛
Better than lightning matches over and over. Better than lightning matches one after the other. (Better than flicking this on and off.)	بدل ما نفضل نولع ونطفي.
Hey doc, help me out here. Doctor, find me some way please.[21] (Too literal)	دكتور، شوفلي طريقة من فضلك

[21] In this scene we have an example of an idiocentric character, i.e. a set of personality traits indicating an individualistic orientation. For example, if there is a certain character that stutters all the time, it can be

Doctor, find me some médecine, please.
I feel bloated from the corn.	أنا عندي انتفاخ من الذرة.
Only/Just the corn?	من الذرة بس؟
Forgot (about) the Koshari? What about the Koshari?	نسيت الكشري؟
Ahhh.	آآه.
By the way,	على فكرة،
I've known it all about you, I know everything about you.	أنا عرفت عنك كل حاجة،
And you've thoroughly explained yourself.	وشرحتلي حالتك بالظبط،
Since we left the inn	من ساعة ما سيبنا لوكاندة الأمراء
Till we got here.	لغاية ما وصلنا هنا.
I don't know why I followed you. I don't know what pulled me toward you, I don't know why I tagged along with you,	معرفش أية اللي جراني وراك!
It seems that I liked you, Or I sympathized with you. Either you impressed me, or I felt sorry for you. Seems I warmed up to you. Or maybe I pitied you.	يظهر إنك عجبتني، أو صعبت عليا.
You are so kind.	أنت إنسان.

inferred that they are traumatized. In this scene, for example, one can deduce that this character does not have a good command of Arabic because he uses some awkward phrasings. Hence, a dialogue may reveal the personality of the characters, and character's personality should be reflected in the translation.

You're kind.
Doctor, So Doc,	دكتور،
Haven't you figured something for my stomach? Figured something out for my stomach yet?	مشفتليش حاجة لبطني؟
Let me explain to you. I'll explain.	أنا هشرح لك.
Have a seat.	اتفضل اقعد.
You too should know everything about me.	أنت كمان لازم تعرف عني كل حاجة.
I am, sir, a doctor; just not in medicine. I'm a doctor, just not a physician.	أنا يا سيدي دكتور بس مش في الطب.
In what then? Then you're a..?	أمال في إيه؟
In Syntax. I'm a syntactician.	أنا دكتور في النحو.
Syntaks? What is that Syntaks? synta--? What's that?	نحوي؟ أية النحو ده؟ [Here, he also pronounces "نحو" in a wrong way due to that he is affected by the other languages he knows. This should be rendered in the translation]
You're not one to blame.	الحق مش عليك.

Can't blame you!
Syntax is the study of structure, The structure of the English language. (Dr. Ahmed suggested we use “Latin Language” as long as you can keep it consistent throughout the text)	النحو يعني الجرامير بالعربي، جرامير اللغة العربية.
And that Syntax deserves a doctorate/PhD? This so-called Syntax calls for a doctorate/PhD? (Does it take a doctorate/PhD, this Syntax?)	وجرامير اللغة العربية دي تستاهل دكتور؟
Yes, and in one branch only—a preposition. And one branch at that. Prepositions. Dr. Ahmed suggested we change the branch altogether and replace prepositions with something easier to employ in our English translation.	وفي فرع واحد بس من فروع النحو، حرف جر.
Preposition?	جر؟
What do you propose/prepose?	بتجر إيه؟
I propose/propose nothing.	مبجرش حاجة أبدا.
It is a two-letter preposition, called "to".	ده حرف جر مكون من ثلاث حروف اسمه حتى. Here, there needs to be consistency between what’s being read and what’s being seen—because he’ll be pointing with his fingers to show that it’s a three-letter word. So, accordingly, the preposition we write should also be a three-letter word to match that visual cue.

You have a doctorate in "to"? A PhD in “to”?	دكتوراة في حتى ؟!
Yes.	أيوة.
That's why you can't find a job. That's why you’re jobless.	عشان كدة مش لاقي شغل.
If it were for any job,/If any job would do, I'd have found one long time ago.	لو كان علي أي شغل، كنت اشتغلت من زمان.
Yet, I insist on my major. (But I'm holding onto my field of study.) But I cherish my major.	لكن أنا متمسك باختصاصي.
The Faculty of arts offered me a job to teach anything but "to."	كلية الآداب عرضت علي إني أدرس أي حاجة تانية غير حتى،
I refused.	رفضت.
To that extent?	للدرجة دي ؟
No way!	لاااه.
You're driving me crazy with that "to" of yours.	أنت يا شيخ هتجنني بـ"حتى" بتاعتك دي.
You can't imagine how important it is in English.	أصلك متتصورش أهميتها في اللغة العربية.
Let me explain to you.	أنا هحاول اشرح لك
Let's say, for example,	مثلا لو قلت:

“The fish is ready to eat”	"أكلت السمكة حتى رأسها"
Do you know how many meanings "to" conveys?	بالك حتى هنا ليها كام معنى؟
It does not matter.	ودة يهمني في إية؟
What matters is that I eat the fish.	اللي يهمني إني آكل السمكة كلها.
Nevermind. Utterly hopeless. Forget it.	مفيش فايدة.
What/The thing I like about you is your sense of humor. I only like you for your sense of humor.	اللي عاجبني فيك إن دمك خفيف.
I don't know why. Beats me.	مش عارف ليه.
Listen, boy. Listen, kid/young man.	اسمع يا ولد؛
You're now my secretary. Not common in spoken language: I appoint you, my secretary.	أنا عينتك السكرتير الخاص بتاعي أنا.
Oh, I wish. But I can't. I'd love to, but I can't.	يا ريت، مش بإيدي.
I'd (rather) starve, I'd beg, But I'd never work anything but "to." But I'd never abandon "to."	أنا اجوع، أشحت، إنما مش ممكن أشتغل أي حاجة في الدنيا غير حتى.

I even wasted my late father's money on "to."	أنا ضيعت القرشين اللي سابهملي المرحوم أبويا على "حتى". "قرشين" مجاز مرسل علاقته الجزئية لكلمة مال. "قرشين" is a metonymy that refers to money as a whole not just two dimes/cents.
Then, surely, this "to" will bring you down. ...make you hit rock bottom ... be your downfall. This "to" will run you to the ground.	يبقى مفيش كلام "حتى" دي هي اللي هتجيبك الأرض.
Bring me down, or to Lift me up, Whether I hit rock bottom or stand on top of the world... Be it my downfall or my rise to heavens! Run me to the ground or soar me to the skies.	تجيبني الأرض، تطلعني السما، This is called an "orientation Metaphor" because it denotes an orientation, e.g. up and down, or heavens and earth, etc.
I am alone in this world, (Literal meaning, not translated metaphorically) I've got no roots./I'm a man with no roots. (Having no roots means having no ties with a particular place.)	أنا راجل مقطوع من شجرة،

Like a tree uprooted, I stand alone. I am a rootless man. “rootless” is not conversational. You may find it in a novel. In subtitling, your choices should be conversational and not academic!
and I have nothing to lose and have nothing to worry about.	ومش باكي على أي حاجة في الدنيا.

- Usurer: someone who practices usury.
- Major: an academic subject chosen as a field of specialization
- Rootless (adj.): a rootless person does not have a home to return to.
- Rootless (adj.): having no family origins or connections, or having no feeling of belonging to a particular place.
- Appoint: to name officially. Ex: I will appoint her director of the program.
- Lift up: to pick or raise someone or something up (from some lower place or position).
- sterilize: to perform a medical operation on someone in order to make them unable to have children. Ex: After having five children, she decided to be sterilized.
- loan shark: is a person who—or an entity that—loans money at extremely high interest rates and often uses threats of violence to collect debts.
- Light – lit – lit; يضيء؛ يشعل
- rootless: having no family origins or connections, or having no feeling of belonging to a particular place
- lone wolf: a person who prefers to work, act, or live alone

General Notes:

- less syllables is always better in conversational subtitles.
- Always capitalize new lines, even if it is not the end of a sentence.
- callbacks is how the text has to be consistent. If there's an extended metaphor, for example or a reference to an earlier part of the text, one needs to maintain that and make sure that they pick the right words that would fit both the context and the words' different uses in different parts of the source text. Consistent voice, however, is more about the cohesiveness of a text. One should not switch between different styles, making the text sound disjointed.

Preventing harm takes precedence over obtaining benefit,	درء الضرر مقدم على جلب المنفعة، This is a phrase related to Islamic jurisprudence (الفقه الإسلامي). It is a "قاعدة فقهية" that means if someone is up to something and this very specific thing will bring them both harm and good but at the same time afflict other people, they should not do it. [Key Phrase Regular Allusion]
And there's no need for this/such risk!	ومفيش داعي للمجازفة دي.
You say this because you were blessed with children. [Modulation (Negative/Affirmative) + lacks the metaphorical aspect] You say this because You never tasted not having a child You say this because You never tasted the bitterness of an empty cradle. [Metaphorical] Easy to say; you never tasted infertility. [It is both short and maintain the metaphor]	أنت بتقول كدة؛ لأنك مدوقتش طعم الحرمان من الخلفة. [Conceptual Metaphor: The usage of the word "taste" to refer to experiencing something.] Metaphors We Live By, Lakoff, Johnson

• We can italicize words in order to highlight the stress in the speaker's speech.
But I have been deprived of much more things you were blessed with. But I did taste the bitterness of deprivation of many things that you weren't deprived of. But I got the taste of being denied things you've never been denied	لكن دوقت طعم الحرمان من حاجات كتير أنت متحرمتش منها.
Nothing's more agonizing than being denied children. [This translation uses a different metaphor which is the physical pain, "agonizing," instead of the concept of tasting.] Nothing is more bitter than childlessness. There's nothing more bitter than not having kids. There is nothing as bitter as being childless/ deprived of children	مفيش أمرّ من الحرمان من الضنا.
Every deprivation is bitter, But we should thank God. All deprivation is painful, But we must thank God.	كل الحرمان مر، بس لازم نحمد ربنا.

All provisions are equal. God's gifts are made equal. No one gets more or less than the others. A common mistake is saying “less or more” whereas it is always “more or less.”	الرزق واحد، ومحدش رزقه بيزيد ولا بينقص عن حد. Provision is “رزق”, whereas “نعمة” is “gift”.
How come?	إزاي بقى؟
"And if ye would count God's gifts, ye cannot reckon it."	وإن تعدوا نعمة الله لا تحصوها،
God's gifts are innumerable, All given out equally and wisely.	نعم ربنا علينا كتير، وكلها أرزاق متقسمة بعدل وحكمة،
Think again. Take a hard look at yourself.	بص لنفسك وراجع حسبتك،
You will find out that You've got your full share. You will find your share is fair.	هتلاقي روحك واخد حقك بالكامل.
My full share?	واخد حقي بالكامل؟
Yes.	أيوة.

Assuming (/if we assumed) that God's innumerable blessings are an 8-slice pizza, If God's blessings were a cake, Let's say God's innumerable blessings were a blend of herbs/a spice blend, If we all get an X amount of God's gifts, (Anything written in pink is other students' suggestions, Dr. Ahmed didn't confirm if they're good)	لو فرضنا إن نعم ربنا اللي ملهاش عدد بتساوى ٢٤ قيراط، [22] [23]
You'd find that everybody got their full share, Everyone would get a full slice— Everyone gets a full portion,/the whole package,	هتلاقي كل إنسان واخد الـ ٢٤ قيراط بتوعه كاملين،
Just mixed.	بس واخدهم مشكلين.

[22] The idea of "24 قيراط" here can be related to the fact that families in Egyptian countryside usually bequeath their issue pieces of land, i.e. "قراريط/فدادين" and so when the actor alludes to this fact, he is comparing God to a just landlord who is dividing His inheritance among His offspring. Another interpretation is that, the metaphor uses the vehicle of a piece land because it is the symbol of fertility which is the main dilemma of Nour al-Sherif here.

[23] Here, we cannot transliterate the word "قيراط" but we find a cultural-equivalent in the target language, that has the same idea of "Sharing" or being divided into sections. Note that the word "carat" means " قيراط من الذهب وليس الأرض." This is because the English audience doesn't know what it means or what it refers to, and when we use any equivalent, the number 24 will carry no meaning, it is just used to show the division.

Just topped differently/with different toppings. Just with different sizes and flavors./But the flavours differ. But different blends. But with varying degrees./divisions.
Mixed how? Different how? How so?	مشكلين إزاي؟ ["مشكل" is a metaphoric expression that is related to how Egyptians ask for diverse food, e.g. "ربع مشكل" or "شكلهالي".
Someone'd get 3 slices wealth/money, 2 health, a good wife, One'd get 10 sprinkles of wealth, 7 of health, and a side of good wife. One could get 10 servings of wealth, topped with health frosting, and a good wife. One gets a handful of wealth, ground health, and a	تلاقي اللي واخد عشر قراريط مال، على سبعة صحة، زائد زوجة صالحة، good wife. One gets Y amount of wealth, Z (of) children, and an (added) good wife.

1 knowledge, and 1 peace of mind. A slice of knowledge, another for peace of mind. A pinch of knowledge. 1 dash of peace of mind. B number of knowledge, and C for peace of mind.	على اتنين علم، وأربعة راحة بال.
That is? The total is...? And this makes..?	يبقوا كام؟
Eight. A full serving/portion. A complete blend. A whole pizza/cake. The same X amount.	يبقوا ٢٤.
Another one'd have 3 slices children,	وتلاقي واحد غيره واخدهم خمستاشر بنون،
2 money, and 1 health.	واتنين مال، وواحد صحة...
Why does God not give out all his gifts to all humans?	ليه ربنا موزعش نعمه كلها على الناس كلهم؟

So, no-one becomes/is denied a gift others enjoy.	عشان ميبقاش فيه حد محروم من نعمة بيتمتع بيها حد غيره!
"Had God given his gifts in abundance, man would have tyrannized on earth." "And if Allah had extended [excessively] provision for His servants, they would have committed tyranny throughout the earth." This one is more accurate because it is metaphorical, similar to the Arabic text. It is a common image in Quran that provisions are something to be spread or extended.	لو بسط الله الرزق لعباده لبغوا في الأرض.
That's divine wisdom. / It's His wisdom.	حكمته كدة يا أخي.
Shouldn't I strive then?	يعني مسعاش؟ Note that the translation of the word "يسعى" should be the same in the next two segments to maintain consistency with the Quranic verse.
Strive!	اسعى؛
For "That man can have nothing but what he strives for;"	فليس للإنسان إلا ما سعى،
Strive,	لكن اسعى بعدل،
Yet with compassion and	برحمة،

Yet, it's about justice and mercy,
Not on the back of others. it's not all/just/about dog-eat-dog. You don't steal/snatch another's slice. [Unlike Arabic, if we use the image of cutting flesh, it will be very brutal in the English text.]	مش بقطع لحم غيرك.
You are so strange!	أمرك غريب يا اخي!
I'm not forcing anybody's hand. I am not twisting anyone's arm. It is not like I am forcing anyone.	هو أنا هضرب حد على إيده؟
Many people out there are selling their organs.	ما الدنيا مليانة ناس عمالة تبيع في كلاويها وفششها.
Invalid sale.	بيع باطل،
Against religion and law.	ضد الشرع والقانون.
Why, Mr. know-it-all? Why then?	ليه بقى، يا سيدي؟
The human body has its sanctity	جسم الإنسان له حرمته؛
Because it belongs to the Creator,	لأنه ملك اللي خلقه.
And He didn't give us permission to sell it,	واللي خلقه مدناش حق بيعه،

Neither wholesale nor retail.	لا بالجملة، ولا بالقطاعي.
I wanna have children.	أنا عايز أخلف،
Science says it's possible.	والعلم بيقول ممكن،
Why're you insisting on discouraging me? Why do you want to drive me to despair / make me give up?	انت ليه عايز تيأسني؟
Do not succumb to your desires. Said. Do not let your desires overpower you, Said. Not common: Do not get this weak with your desires, Said.	متبقاش ضعيف قدام شهواتك بالشكل دة، يا سعيد.
Desires?	شهواتي؟
No one's promised tomorrow.	هو أحنا ضامنين نعيش قد ما عيشنا!
What do you mean? That we've become rusty/ expired? Are you saying that we've become junk to toss out?	قصدك أية؟ إننا بقينا خردة؟
No, sir.	لا، يا أستاذ.
I am still in the best of health and can have a dozen children.	أنا مازلت بكامل صحتي وأقدر أخلف عشرة.
God bless your health, And may He grant all your wishes. May God keep you healthy/Lord grant you good health/May the lord grant you good health,	ربنا يديم عليك نعمة الصحة، وتنول كل اللي بتتمناه.

Snap out of this mysticism/mendicancy. You need to get up from this Mendicancy. Can you just stop being pharisaic/sanctimonious? Just stop playing a saint!	متفوق يا ابني من الدروشة اللي أنت فيها دي. [Allusion to Islamic Dervishes]
A saint?	دروشة؟
Yes.	آه
It is only a robe and the gospel,	مش ناقصك غير عمة خضرة وعقدين خرز.
And you can start with preaching.	وتقف على باب السيدة. [Allusion]

Some General Notes:

- We should pay attention to any allusions in the text; the bare minimum would be realizing that there is an allusion in the first place. Some allusions can be replaced with a cultural equivalent, and some do not. However, if the allusion is cultural-specific, the translator will have to choose between domesticating or foreignizing the allusion.
- A good rule of thumb while subtitling is to count the number of words in the ST, and compare it with the TT. The TT should not have too many words than the ST.
- We do not use social media abbreviations, such as "cuz" or "tho." It is enough to use contracted forms of negation and auxiliaries. For example, "I am" in subtitling will be "I'm" or "You are not" would be "You're not."
- Sometimes we can opt to change the tense used in a certain segment to avoid making it too long. For example, "You are saying..." can be "You say" to make it shorter. Always remeber that subtitling the translation of economy.
- Please do not reinvent the wheel, and use the Quranic Corpus recommended by the doctor to find different translations of any Quranic verse you need to translate. Just look into different translations and decide on the best one that suits you, or you can simply mix and match, or even edit any of the translations their providing that you are experienced enough to do that.
- When translating Quranic/Biblical verses, we should use quotation marks and italicize the verse.
